A MESSAGE FROM THE NEW SARA BOARD OF DIRECTORS: As rescue members in Southern Arizona Rescue Association we provide a skilled service to anyone who needs us. To maintain our level of skill, we must practice. Our skills cannot be honed to the level we need by simply attending a basic training and a monthly training every once in a while. We must get out and practice our basic skills, such as learning the mountains around us, how to read maps, climbing, caving, and most important of all, our own capabilities. Our monthly practices provide specialized practices, not the basic skills we need. For SARA to provide the skilled expertise that we need, we must all practice our basic skills and our specialized skills. Remember, to be a good rescue member does not mean the quantity of rescues you attend but the quality you can provide for the search or rescue you volunteer for.
